Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to Amendment filed on Dec. 23, 2003.
2. Claims 1-17 have been canceled.
3. Claims 18-34 have been added.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 27-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the elements. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted elements are: claims 10 and 11 have been canceled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

7. Claims 18-20, 22 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kim (2004/0221241).

Regarding claims 18-20, 22 and 26, Kim discloses a method for creating user-customized menu in a portable radio telephone comprising memory card connection means adapted to receive a memory card and to function as an interface for said memory card, content data input means for inputting content data, a database having personal information stored therein beforehand, for use in distinguishing respective parts of said content data which are inputted via said content data input means, data relating means for associating said content data with said personal information, and content data storing means for storing said associated content data and personal information in said memory card, while said memory card is connected to said memory card connection means (see fig.1, element 111, 113, 115 and its description).

8. Claims 18-20, 22 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ritter et al. (6,880,761).

Regarding claims 18-20, and 22, Ritter discloses a method for loading data onto chip cards anh devices adapted thereto comprising memory card connection means adapted to receive a memory card and to function as an interface for said memory card, content data input means for inputting content data, a database having personal information stored therein beforehand, for use in distinguishing respective parts of said content data which are inputted via said content data input means, data relating means for associating said content data with said personal information, and content data storing means for storing said associated content data and personal information in said memory card, while said memory card is connected to said memory card connection means (see se abstract, fig.1, col.1-2, elements 1, 3 and its description).

Regarding claim 26, Ritter discloses a method for loading data onto chip cards anh devices adapted thereto comprising: a content input set of inputting content data; a data relating step of associating, with said inputted content data, personal information for use in distinguishing respective parts of said content data, and a content data storing step of storing said associated content data and personal information in a memory card that is connected to memory card connection means (see fig.1, col.1-2, element 1 and its description).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

10. Claims 21, and 23-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ritter et al. (6,880,761).

Regarding claims 21, and 23-25, the Examiner takes Official notice that these features are notoriously well known in the art in order to provide the use of storing in telecommunication devices.
